REBELLION IN HOUSE SPREADS TO U. S. SENATE

FOUR PERSONS MET DEATH IN BURNING PLANE

Cause of Tragedy in Montana Last Eve Held Mystery

Miles City, Mont., Jan. 14.—(AP)—The flaming crash of a Northwest Airlines plane, carrying four persons to their death two miles west of Miles City, left investigators with a tragic puzzle to solve today.

All of the plane's occupants died instantly in the crash last night.

The answer to the puzzle possibly lay in the wreckage of the plane, scattered in a coulee a mile west of the municipal airport from which the plane just had made a "normal takeoff."

While airlines and civil aeronautics authorities investigators sped here by plane from Minneapolis, the Air Safety Board announced in Washington it had assigned three men to make the official inquiry.

The board dispatched Tom Hardin, board member, and Frank Caldwell, chief investigator, from Washington by plane and said Phil Salzman, of the board's Los Angeles office, would come here from the coast.

One Body Un-Removed

Coroner Ralph H. Bray said the body of Mrs. Morgan Morris of Mandan, N. D., was burned so horribly it was not removed when the bodies of the other victims, all men, were taken out last midnight. One body was hurled 100 feet from the wreckage.

The St. Paul-to-Seattle plane burst into flames and crashed in the Sunday creek bottomlands west of Miles City airport at 8:15 p. m. (C. S. T.).

L. H. Bliven, airport manager, and several Miles City residents reported the explosion flashed a bright, eerie light across an overcast sky. A light rain had been falling in an near-freezing temperature.

The three men victims were: Pilot C. B. (Cash) Chamberlain, of Minneapolis, a pioneering pilot trained by the late Frank Hawks. He joined Northwest in 1931.

Co-pilot Raymond B. Norby of Minneapolis, who had flown from Northwest since 1936.

Richard S. Zahniser, about 52, connected with the Consolidated Motor Freight Service, of Billings, Mont.

Woman Widely Known

Mrs. Morris, wife of a Northern Pacific Railway conductor, was widely known in North Dakota music circles.

H. V. Hewitt, Northwest Airlines employee, left the plane at Miles City to visit his parents at Terry, Mont.

Hewitt said at the home of his father, A. O. Hewitt, that he had had no misgivings regarding the flight but had left the plane at Miles City after Pilot Chamberlain told him that "from the looks of the weather" the flight likely would be halted at Billings. He said he preferred a visit with his

Most Highways in Illi- nois Slippery Today

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 14.—(AP)—The state highway division reported today pavements in the upstate area were spotted with ice, snow and slush following snowfall of from one to two inches this morning.

Central and southern Illinois highways, the division stated, are wet, but free from ice and slush. The report analyzed conditions generally as "not dangerous," but suggested motorists reduce their cruising speeds.

The highway division said crews were at work spreading salt and cinders, and removing snow.

Wisconsin Pair Held For Ogle County Jury

Two Pittsville, Wis., brothers charged with the theft of calves from an Ogle county farmer were held for the Ogle county grand jury on bonds of $2,500 each yesterday by Justice of the Peace Arthur T. Guest, of Rochelle.

The brothers, Homer Coulthard, 22, and Grant, 20, were arrested by Sheriff James White, who said they had confessed theft of livestock in nine northern counties. He said five calves found in their truck were identified as livestock taken from Whiteside county farms.

Plaintiff's Fault

Los Angeles, Jan. 14.—(AP)—The Bixel System, Inc., has filed suit for $203 damages against Illeana Laurel, dancing wife of Stan, the comedian, charging she rented a car last April, drove it at excessive speed, ran through a boulevard stop and finally wrecked it against a tree.

In reply, Mrs. Laurel declared it was the plaintiff's fault, saying:

"No body asked if she had a driver's license and she didn't know how to drive anyway."

Former Newsie, "Lottery King," Faces U. S. Cell

Chicago, Jan. 14.—(AP)—Abraham F. Zimmerman, 37, a former newsboy who made a fortune selling lottery tickets, was convicted by a federal court jury today of evading $36,250 in income taxes.

Deliberating 12 hours, the jurors decided Zimmerman had evaded taxes on his 1930 and 1931 incomes, aggregating $363,280. They acquitted him of a third count which charged evasion of $26,000 in taxes on his 1929 income of $135,720.

Each of the counts provides for maximum punishment of five years in jail and a fine of $10,000. Pending arguments Wednesday on a motion for a new trial, Zimmerman was permitted to remain at liberty under his $25,000 bond.

His defense was concentrated principally on the contention that he had paid his taxes and that the 1929 charge was outlawed by the statute of limitations.

In presenting its case, the government pictured Zimmerman as king of the lottery business from the eastern seaboard to the Mississippi river, with large bank accounts in Cleveland and Chicago under the name of Joseph White. Before Zimmerman became "prosperous" he was the proprietor of a south side news-stand.

State Police Blockade Southern Part of State

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 14.—(AP)—State highway police threw a blockade across south Central Illinois today in an attempt to capture two negroes who hijacked a transfer truck in East St. Louis.

Chief Walter Williams said his latest report was that the men were believed to have been two of the three who attempted a robbery in Madison last night.

Williams said the tractor and trailer, belonging to the Hayes Transfer Company, was found by state police abandoned on Route 66 and the shipment of general merchandise had been recovered in Eagle Park on Route 67. The truck was taken about 6:45 A. M.

The two negroes were armed and when last seen were riding in a dark sedan bearing Missouri license plates, Williams said, describing the pair as "dangerous." The car was reported stolen in Centerville township, St. Clair county, late last night.

Chicagoan Injured in Accident Near Mendota

(Telegraph Special Service.)

Mendota, Jan. 14.—Henry Wolf and Miss Anita C. McConnell, two of five Chicagoans returning to that city from Princeton, were slightly injured when the auto in which all were passengers, slipped on the pavement on U. S. route 51, two miles south of Mendota, at about midnight, and turned over several times. Wolf and the lady were thrown through the top of the car, receiving cuts which necessitated treatment at the Harris hospital here. All returned to Chicago by train this morning, the wrecked car being towed to a Mendota garage.

MISSOURI PATROL ORDERED TO MOVE SHARE-CROPPERS

State Survey Shows Situation is Menace to Public Health

New Madrid, Mo., Jan. 14.—(AP)—Acting under orders of the state health commissioner, the Missouri state highway patrol moved today to break up a demonstration of more than 1,000 sharecroppers occupying snow and rain-soaked camps along two major highways.

After a survey of the camps by Dr. Harry Parker, state health commissioner; Col. B. Marvin Casteel, superintendent of the highway patrol, and Capt. A. D. Sheppard of the patrol, Dr. Parker announced the situation "constituted a menace to public health."

State police were instructed to remove the men, women and children, forcibly if necessary.

Colonel Casteel said he expected no trouble in carrying out the order.

Have Return Permits

Land-owners, Casteel said, have agreed to permit sharecroppers who originally tenanted their farms to return.

Those who could not prove they were tenant farmers in this area were to be taken to a government building at Charleston and turned over to county authorities.

Colonel Casteel said reports indicated a large percentage of the demonstrators were not actually sharecroppers, but were cotton pickers from Arkansas, Kentucky and Tennessee.

The sharecroppers, mostly Negroes, spent their fourth night in the open air, stubbornly refusing to budge from the sites they have occupied since they trekked to the highways in protest against their economic flight.

CAMPERS "STUBBORN"

St. Louis, Jan. 14.—(AP)—Owen H. Whitfield, 44-year-old part-time Negro minister and a leader of the southeast Missouri cotton workers' demonstration, declared today the state highway patrol "probably will have to use force" in moving the ragged army from the highways.

Patrolmen reported the roadside campers were "stubborn," but offered no resistance to trooper suggestions that they return to their former homes.

Learning that "menace to public health" was the reason given for the patrol's orders, Whitfield commented:

"Do they think those shacks my

Sterling Man Must Pay Damages to 6 Persons

Marley Babel of Sterling and the Blackhawk Chief Trucking company must pay damages to six persons, totaling $726.20, as a result of a verdict by a jury in the Ogle county Circuit Court at Oregon Thursday. The action followed a collision last summer near Grand Detour when a Blackhawk company truck, driven by Babel, and a car occupied by the six plaintiffs were involved. Suit for $25,000 was filed. The individual awards made by the jury are: Mrs. Neva Trout, $156.85, May Ford, $80.05, Ralph Trout, $300, Robert Trout, $23.30, Vivian Richardson, $27.50, Charles Ford $138.50.

Double Trouble

Vallejo, Calif., Jan. 14.—(AP)—Walter Howes told police he was walking his dog when a man and a woman drove up, explained they were lost, and asked directions.

Then, as Howes courteously began to answer the query, the man jostled him, the woman grabbed his wallet, containing $50.

In the ensuing excitement, his own dog bit Howes.

Hemingway Gets Tough When He's Beset by Heckler

New York, Jan. 14.—(AP)—Ernest Hemingway's reputation as a two-fisted author with hair on his chest pursued him into the precincts of the Stork club early today, and a man whose friends identified him as a broker stopped a fast one to the chin.

Hemingway was sitting with a group when the stranger stumbled against his chair and said:

"So you're Hemingway, huh? Tough guy, huh?"

He started rubbing his hands over Hemingway's face. The master of incisive prose, authority on bull fighting, and fisherman protested politely.

Quentin Reynolds, one of his companions, smilingly offered this piece of advice:

"Sack him, but don't draw blood."

Hemingway swung. The broker dropped.

Hemingway's last little encounter of any moment was a brush with Max Eastman, the authority on the American laugh, over the moot point of whether Hemingway has hair on his chest. He has.

Rather Than Fight, the Vermont Flood Control Plan Will Be Dropped

Washington, Jan. 14.—(AP)—President Roosevelt is ready to drop the Union Village, Vt., flood control project rather than contest with Vermont over federal acquisition of lands.

Announcing this today, Stephen Early, presidential secretary, said the chief executive had made his attitude clear to senators and others with whom he has talked since the Vermont legislature voted a $67,500 fund for a court fight.

"If Vermont doesn't want the flood control works it doesn't have to have them," Early said. "Other states want and can use the money."

"The war department is acting in entire accord with the flood control act. There was no particular resentment from New England when it was passed."

"There is no tendency on the part of the president and I am sure on the part of the secretary of war to violate any state's rights in the acquisition of land."

TAKE STATE EXAMS

Misses Harriett McWethy of Dixon, Anne Wolber of Morrison, Edna Morton of Salem and Mildred Patten of Terre Haute, Ind., and Mesdames June Albenburg of Franklin Grove and Iva Langley of Amboy, graduates of the Loret School of Beauty Culture here, will go to Peoria Monday to take the state examination for registered beauty culturists licenses.

The state highway division announced today new bids would be opened January 27 for 44 miles of approaches to the F. A. Rt. 141 overhead at the Illinois Central railroad tracks southeast of Eldeena. A previous bid of $45,076 was rejected as "too high."

Women Continue Sit-Down Strike For Relief Fund

St. Louis, Jan. 14.—(AP)—Thirty-seven hungry, weary women "sat tight" today in the board of aldermen chambers at the city hall in the second day of a demonstration to force a relief appropriation.

Their cheerful enthusiasm had turned to dogged determination after a miserable night spent on the hard wooden seats of the aldermanic gallery. Weakened by hunger and discomfort, one woman fainted but refused to leave.

Their only food since they began the demonstration was a free meal donated by the aldermen yesterday afternoon. Since then, police have turned back baskets for the women, and they have eaten nothing.

The women represented 1,000 mothers who have been dropped by the WPA because of their apparent eligibility for grants under the federal-state program for aid to dependent children.

Action on their applications has been delayed by lack of administrative funds. Meanwhile, the women want the aldermen to appropriate $300,000 for their relief.

Chambersburg, Pa., Jan. 14.—(AP)—Barber John Flora can't remember to whom he gave credit for a shave seven years ago, but the debt has been paid. Opening his shop for the day he found this note which had been dropped through a letter slot: "On the floor you will find money for a shave I got in 1932." The money lay near the unsigned note.

EX-PUBLIC ENEMY DIES OF SHOTS IN ALCATRAZ BREAK

"Doc" Barker, Like His "Ma" is Victim of Federal Bullets

San Francisco, Jan. 14.—(AP)—Like his "ma" before him, Arthur (Doc) Barker was dead from federal bullets today—the victim of a futile break from the United States penitentiary on Alcatraz island.

The 40-year-old son of the late "Ma" Barker, who with one of "Doc's" brothers was killed in a Florida battle with government men, died in the Alcatraz prison hospital last night.

The leader of the Barker-Karpis gang, once rated as public enemy No. 1, was the most notorious of five convicts who attempted to escape the island penitentiary early yesterday.

A second was reported near death as Federal Prison Director James V. Bennett flew toward San Francisco to take over investigation into the fourth escape attempt at Alcatraz, the third known to have taken a convict's life.

Dale Stumphill, 27, Oklahoma kidnaper, shot with Barker by guards when they resisted recapture on the island beach, was in critical condition in the prison hospital—an artery severed by a guard's bullet.

Prison Investigation

Warden James A. Johnston investigated the break secretly pending Bennett's arrival. Coroner's deputies were not admitted to the island to take off Barker's body. Instead it was delivered by prison boat to a waiting deputy at Fort Mason on the mainland. The coroner's "investigation" into the death will be entirely prison-conducted—the result to be mailed to Coroner T. B. W. Leland by the warden today.

Prison sources indicated the manner in which the five convicts got out of their individual cells was to be investigated. Once in the main corridor they sawed through 3/4 inch steel bars to escape the cell block. Warden Johnston said he did not know where the saws were obtained.

The five were missed at 4 A. M. A San Francisco police boat immediately sped toward the island. The coast guard sent three boats to patrol Alcatraz waters. The San Francisco Presidio beaches were patrolled by soldiers.

Forty-seven minutes later all five had been recaptured.

He had been a member of the I. O. O. F. for 42 years.

He is survived by his widow, the former Fannie Trainor of Dixon; three daughters, Mrs. Andrew Marx, Mrs. Edward Rhoades, Mrs. Russell Salayardes, Menasha; two sons, Orville Appleton, and Herbert, Jackson, Wyo.; 11 grandchildren.

Funeral services were held in Appleton with burial in that city.

Worst Storm of New Year Spread- ing Over Nation to Eastern Coast

By The Associated Press

The worst storm of the new year spread over the nation today with snow and sub-freezing temperatures general from the Atlantic coast to the Rocky mountains.

Sleet, rain and snow caused many traffic fatalities. Four persons died when a Northwest Airlines plane crashed in flames in a snow-covered coulee near Miles City, Mont.

A blizzard, sweeping through New England, buffeted New York and Rhode Island with particular fury, although all the North Atlantic states suffered.

A 10-hour snowfall covered New York City's streets to a depth of eight inches and jammed traffic so badly in Manhattan that police asked radio stations to broadcast appeals to out-of-town residents not to attempt to drive their cars into the city.

In the wake of the snow, a 40-mile-an-hour gale roared up the east coast.

Transportation was retarded by ice-glazed highways in New York, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Iowa and Illinois. Most roads remained open but buses were running up to 80 minutes late in Pennsylvania.

The wintry onslaught followed days of spring-like weather in many sections.

Heavy rains or snow fell in portions of Kentucky, Tennessee and the east Gulf states, but slowly rising temperatures were forecast. Heavy snows during the week-end were predicted for the North Atlantic states with lighter falls in the Ohio valley, the lower Lake region and the Appalachian section.

Hot Celebration

Cincinnati, Jan. 14.—(AP)—It cost Samuel Haerr $200 to celebrate an addition to his family—exclusive of hospital or doctor bills.

Haerr returned home and proudly lighted a cigar. Dropping ashes ignited a chair in the seat of which were hidden two $100 bills. They burned.

Half of Australia- lian Province Is Reported on Fire

Melbourne, Australia, Jan. 14.—(AP)—Disastrous bush fires roared today through the heat-parched state of Victoria, leaving an estimated 60 deaths, hundreds homeless and property damage running into millions of dollars.

Fires blazed in more than half of Victoria's 88,000 square miles of territory. The state, of which this is the capital, was in the grip of the worst heat wave and drought in its history.

In the town of Woodpoint alone 21 men and two women were burned to death and 500 made destitute.

The federal government turned over military equipment for the relief of sufferers.

Billows of smoke and dust choked people in the streets of Melbourne. Thousands gasped on the beaches as the thermometer registered 114 degrees Fahrenheit, a record.

Body of Man Found on Peoria Railroad Track

Peoria, Ill., Jan. 14.—(AP)—The body of a well-dressed man whose clothing, police said, contained papers indicating he was John Gross, Jr. of Grafton, Wis., proprietor of a canning factory, was found on a railroad track early today by the engineer of a switch engine.

The engineer told police he was proceeding slowly near the foot of Cedar street when he saw a dark object on the track. He was unable to stop before hitting it, and examination showed it to be a body with one leg severed. The engineer said he believed the man was dead when hit because the injury was not severe enough to cause instant death.

Police said a deep cut on the arm had been closed, bandaged and taped.

Coroner Harold Dilled said he suspected the man had been the victim of "foul play."

The coroner said he agreed with Whelan's belief that the apparent injury, a severed leg, would not have caused death by the time the engine crew reached him.

Police said Gross had left home three days ago. His pockets were empty except for a few papers and a key to a new automobile.

Horner's Physician Re- fuses to Allow Confab

Miami Beach, Fla., Jan. 14.—(AP)—A group of Illinois state officials who came here several days ago to visit Illinois' ailing governor, Henry Horner, planned today to return to Chicago without consulting the state's chief executive.

Tax Commissioner Charles K. Schwartz, Finance Director S. L. Nudelman and Public Works Director F. Lynden Smith said they expected to leave for the north tomorrow. Commerce Commission Chairman James M. Slatery said he might remain a day or two longer.

The four officials compose a "regency board" in the absence of Horner from Illinois. The governor has been in ill health since early November.

The officials decided to return home after the governor's physician, Dr. E. Sterling Nicholl, advised against visitors. Dr. Nicholl said the governor's condition was "good."

House Decks Clear

That the farm security administration be prevented from using any of the money to establish hosiery mills on federal homesteads.

Passage of the relief bill cleared the house decks of legislation ready for immediate action. Leaders expected only routine meetings the first half of next week.

The senate faced a busy schedule, however, having yet to act upon the nominations of Harry L. Hopkins to be secretary of commerce, Prof. Felix Frankfurter to be a member of the Supreme Court, and Frank Murphy to be attorney general.

Echoes of a senate committee's investigation of Hopkins' qualifications for the commerce post were heard during house debate on the relief appropriation.

Rep. Dirksen (R-Ill.) recalled that the former WPA Administrator had said some WPA supervisors who had mixed in politics in Kentucky "ought to have been fired." His statement came during discussion of the president's order to blanket supervisory employees of the work relief organization into the civil service.

REDUCED WPA FUND PASSED HOUSE FRIDAY

Leaders Economy Bloc Predict Similar Action

Washington, Jan. 14.—(AP)—Democratic insurgency against the administration's relief program spread to the senate today after the rebellious house had lopped $150,000,000 from the appropriation asked by President Roosevelt to finance WPA for the next five months.

Leaders of the senate's economy bloc predicted that the $725,000,000 fund voted by the house would win senate approval, probably late next week, despite the president's request for $875,000,000.

The house passed the relief bill last night, 397 to 16, after an informal coalition of Republicans and many Democrats had reduced its amount and incorporated prohibitions against political activities in the WPA.

This first major legislative action in the new congress was interpreted widely as evidence that the election-strengthened Republicans, working with a substantial bloc of Democrats, might curtail other phases of the president's spending program.

Roosevelt had advocated that the appropriation be made without

How They Voted

Washington, Jan. 14.—(AP)—Here is the vote of the Illinois delegation on the $725,000,000 relief bill which the housepasd last night.

Democrats for: Arnold, Barnes, Beam, Fries, Keller, Keilly, Kockalkowski, McKeough, Martin, Mitchell, Sabath, Schaefer, Schuetz, Smith.

Republicans for: Allen, Aranda, Chipperfield, Church, Dirksen, Johnson, Mason, Reed, Sumner, Wheat.

None of the Illinois delegation voted against the measure.

House Writes Provisions

Instead the house wrote these provisions into the measure:

That none of the money should be used to pay WPA officials and administrative employees under the civil service—this to forestall a presidential order blanketing thousands of them into the civil service February 1.

That for the same or comparable work in different states the WPA could not vary relief wages more than 25 per cent.

That none of the money could be used to pay salaries or benefits to any official or beneficiary who tried to influence the vote of a WPA worker. This amounted to a statement of policy, since no elections are scheduled in the five-month period.

That no relief funds be paid to aliens.

That the WPA reverse a recent order and continue on work relief men and women over 65, all of whom the WPA had classified as unemployable and ordered turned over to local relief agencies. This order was to be effective January 31.

House Decks Clear

Passage of the relief bill cleared the house decks of legislation ready for immediate action. Leaders expected only routine meetings the first half of next week.

ENGLISH STAGE AND FILM STAR TO BE SCARLET

At Long Last Actress is Chosen to Film "Gone With Wind"

Hollywood, Jan. 14—(AP)—Vivien Leigh, the young English actress who will play the part of the southern lass, Scarlett O'Hara, in the screen dramatization of "Gone With the Wind," was "terribly nervous" today, but at the same time "grateful beyond words."

She was signed to the role last night for which a host of actresses and socialites have been mentioned.

Miss Leigh, who pronounces it Lee, confided she had looked forward to sitting in an audience and watch "Gone With the Wind" unfold on the screen.

"I came over here on a holiday, little dreaming I would be so terribly lucky," she smiled. "I am grateful beyond words at the tremendous confidence placed in me and my fondest ambition is to make good. If I can it will be the greatest satisfaction of my life."

Producer David O. Selznick, announcing the choice, said he has kept his original promise "to cast a girl who was not identified in the minds of the public with other roles, and who was a physical counterpart of the original Scarlett."

Selznick said when Miss Leigh appeared at the studio he was immediately impressed by her physical resemblance to the Scarlett of Margaret Mitchell's best seller.

She is five feet three, weighs 103 pounds, has green eyes, brown hair with a touch of red, and a pointed chin.

Clark Gable will be Rhett Butler, with whom Scarlett constantly clashes. Leslie Howard will be Ashley Wilkes, her first great love, and Olivia de Havilland will play Melanie.

New in America While Miss Leigh is comparatively new to American audiences, she has had leads in English stage plays, among them "Henry VIII" and "A Midsummer Night's Dream," and has played in the British films "Fire Over England," "Storms in a Teacup" and "A Yank at Oxford."

She was born in Darjeeling, India, Nov. 5, 1913. She is married to Leigh Holman, London barrister and they have a five-year-old daughter, Suzanne.

Poets' Corner

THE LIGHT IN THE TOWER By Helen Cushing

It is midnight and in the tower Of the castle o'er the hill A pin point of light is shining. Yes! The light is burning still.

And a mother sits there waiting For her wandering boy's return And it seems that I can feel the love That in its greatness makes her yearn.

For her sake I hope he's longing For the mother he left alone I would like to think he's thinking Of some way he can atone.

For her poor old heart that's aching For her only boy that's gone For who in faith she oils the light Each night So it may keep burning on.

I hope he's not forgotten His mother and that light Twas for him she promised to keep it burning From the tower every night.

I hope he keeps his own heart clean Man tho he may be That his soul may shine with light As bright As that light has looked to me.

First Church of Christ, Scientist—321 West Second street. Regular Sunday morning service at 11 o'clock. Subject for Jan. 15: "Life." Sunday school at 9:45 A. M. Children to the age of 20 are welcome. Wednesday evening testimonial meeting is at 8 o'clock. The reading room is open each week day from 2 to 4 P. M. except holidays.

Two Services Sunday—Rev. F. L. Reetzke, pastor of the Evangelical church of Springfield, will speak at the Grace Evangelical church in the 10:45 A. M. and 7:45 P. M. services. The subject of the morning sermon is "Our Contemporary Christ." The evening message is entitled "A Movie Thriller—Naaman." Mr. Reetzke has spoken each evening the past week at Grace church to interest and growing audiences and will speak each evening the coming week excepting Saturday, concluding in two great services on Sunday, Jan. 22. All who need Christ and His gospel are invited to attend.

The meetings are increasing in interest each evening. He spoke last evening on the Natural Man, the Spiritual Man and the Carnal Man. He said in part, that the natural man is the unconverted man. The natural man has no desire for spiritual things, for they are foolishness to him, neither can he know them. He may be eloquent, gentle, cultured, refined and even kind, yet the natural man is not with God, or for God. Saul of Tarsus was a very religious man, and observed the religious rites of his day with exacting care and honest effort. There came a time in his life however when a great change took place on the Damascus road. It was then he no longer was known as Saul of Tarsus but Paul the great Apostle who blazed the trail for the Christian world to a new life, not according to the traditions of his elders, but a freedom and liberty which had never been his until that great event that transpired in his life, namely a new life that was dominated by the divine spirit of God. He not only had peace with God, but he had the peace of God. The world has peace with God because of His Divine providence in that they enjoy the benefits derived from Him in their daily walk thru life, but in the end will miss the great objective because as the natural man, the unconverted man, they do not seek after spiritual things. While the new man in Christ, the converted man, enjoys not only peace with God, but the peace of God for he has the divine spirit of God attesting to the fact that he is a child of God, because the Spirit of God witnesses with His spirit, that he is a child of God.

The carnal man, in the second place is worldly not spiritual. Let me illustrate it like this, as you see this arm, it may be out of joint even tho it be a part of my body, yet it is out of joint, instead of being to me a healthy normal member it does not function properly, and many times becomes useless as far as its usefulness is concerned. How do we recognize the carnal man? He is a member of the body of Christ, but makes no progress. He seemingly remains a babe and among those things that amuse him, instead of growing into a life of usefulness to his fellow Christians and to his God. For in his carnality he makes no distinction between the world and Christianity. He goes to be a friend of the world, and a friend to Christ.

There are three stages in the Christian life, when he needs help. When he can help himself, when he can help others, when he can help the world. The carnal state prevents spiritual growth, there is no liberty, there is no joy, there is no real satisfaction in living that kind of a life, it is merely enduring Christianity, instead of enjoying it.

The spiritual man is the last man I wish to talk about. There is a difference between a Christian and his standing. He is not only saved, but separated from those things which impede his spiritual progress, for he realizes that significant text as found in Romans 8:11: "For as many as are led by the Spirit of God, they are the children of God." "Heirs of God, and joint heirs of Jesus Christ." Then too, they have a brighter knowledge of Christ, and the Word of God. The sum and substance of it all is that they seek these things which are above, not the things of this earth, which are perishing. The natural man needs life, the carnal man needs spiritual life, the spiritual man needs to remain humble.

Following the review an opportunity will be given the members of the class to discuss the issues raised by the author. The next book to be reviewed and discussed will be a novel, "Kindling," and this will be followed by other recent best sellers, including "The Yearling," "Listen, the Wind," and others.

In each study the group will attempt to work out a Christian way of life, using the life and teachings of Jesus as the standard and seeking to apply it to the specific modern problems raised by each author. After the study of each book, one member of the class will be asked to prepare a summary of the findings of the class. These reports will be kept and made available for all members.

A circulating library among members of the class will make available recent books that are inaccessible at the present time. The offering from one Sunday each month will be devoted to the purchase of new books, which will be circulated among those wishing to read them before or after they are reviewed by Mrs. McColliey. CONGRESS WILL TAKE TIME FORMING RAIL SUCCOR

Bill Introduced to Enable Carriers to be "Self-Supporting"

Washington, Jan. 14—(AP)—Administration leaders in the House tacitly endorsed principles of proposed legislation to aid the railroads today, but they indicated other problems would receive congressional consideration first.

Informed persons said that, although President Roosevelt spoke in his annual message to Congress of the necessity of "ameliorating" the general transportation problem, he had not asked his leaders on Capitol Hill to rush any rail aid program to passage.

Chairman Lea (D-Calif.) of the House interstate commerce committee introduced a bill yesterday which he said should enable the carriers to operate on a "self-supporting basis." Hearings on this proposal are scheduled to start Tuesday.

Bill's Provisions Reorganization of the Interstate Commerce Commission. Extension of its jurisdiction to all types of interstate transportation.

Authority for the ICC to fix minimum rates and fares. Authority for the carriers, rather than the commission, to originate reorganizations and consolidation proceedings.

Labor and equipment loans to the railroads from the reconstruction finance corporation. Establishment of a special railroad reorganization board.

Larger Commission The commission would be increased from the present 11 members to 19 and, instead of all the members handling rate, finance and appeal problems, they would be divided into three groups.

An administrator would be appointed to study the special fitness of one type of transportation to carry a particular kind of freight. He would make recommendation on this question to the full commission for consideration in fixing minimum rates.

Lea said the commission would have power to prescribe minimum rates charged by each transportation agency—railroad, trucks, buses, coastwise shipping, inland water carriers, pipelines and air carriers.

Germany All Excited Over Sling-Shot Crisis Amsterdam, Jan. 14—(AP)—Police guards were posted around homes and offices of German officials in the Netherlands today although an attack on a German-occupied building for which nazi papers angrily blamed Jews gave evidences of being only a "sling-shot crisis."

'Sky the Limit' In Expansion of Air Corps Hinted

Washington, Jan. 14—(AP)—A proposal in Congress to authorize an army air force of 6,000 planes produced an authoritative hint today that the administration favored removing all legislative limits on the corps' size.

Chairman May (D-Ky.) of the House military committee said he would propose the new limit next week, in response to President Roosevelt's recommendation the army air forces be expanded as soon as possible by at least 3,000 aircraft.

Reliable administration sources reported, however, that army spokesmen would ask Congress instead to "make the sky the limit," so far as authorizations are concerned.

Congressional authorizations are distinct from actual appropriations. Often the legislators authorize a program extending over several years, then pass annually upon the amount of money to be spent carrying it out. If an unlimited expansion of the air corps were authorized now, this would reduce the amount of congressional action required to increase the force greatly in an emergency. An appropriation would be the only thing necessary.

Legally, officials said, the army now has authority to increase the air corps to 4,120 planes.

It was said in military quarters that, although the administration opposed a new limitation of 6,000, it had no present intention of proposing to exceed this figure in the next several years.

The Senate military committee intends to begin immediately a study of the Chief Executive's armament recommendations.

Secret hearings will start Tuesday, it was announced, at which war department officials will be asked to explain in detail the $552,000,000 emergency military program which Roosevelt presented this week.

Three Badger Students Disciplined for Theft of 3000 Student Papers

Madison, Wis., Jan. 14—(AP)—Three University of Wisconsin students who confessed the theft Sunday of 3,000 copies of the Daily Cardinal, student newspaper were placed on disciplinary probation in an order issued yesterday by the faculty student conduct committee.

The order forbids participation in extra-curricular campus activities.

Edward Fleming of Baraboo, Wis., who resigned this week as president of the student governing board, was placed on probation for one calendar year. Percy Rosemurgy of Bessemer, Mich. and James Gilboy of Fond du Lac, Wis., whom Fleming sought to exonerate, were placed on probation for six months each.

The three youths also were ordered to pay $166 for the newspapers which they admitted hiding under a Lake Mendota boat dock because Fleming objected to news articles regarding his campus activities.

A window shade for the car, recently invented, works by means of a zipper. The shade will zip up, completely covering the window or leaving any size opening desired.

Hobbins-Harris Wedding To Be Event of Jan. 24

That Miss Mary Alice Hobbins, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Russell Hobbins of Hampshire House, New York City, has chosen Tuesday, Jan. 24, for her wedding to A. Baird Harris, Jr., of New York City, is interesting news to Dixon friends of the bride-to-be's family.

The bride-elect's grandmother and aunt, Mrs. Alice Beede of this city and Mrs. Walter Saunders of Barquito, Chile will leave for the east Tuesday morning to attend the wedding, which will be read at 4 o'clock in the afternoon at St. Bartholomew's chapel. The Le Perroquet suite of the Waldorf-Astoria has been reserved for a reception immediately afterward. Approximately 250 guests are expected for the wedding, and many more will attend the reception.

Miss Hobbins, whose father is executive vice president of the Anaconda Copper Mining company, has chosen her cousin, Mrs. Richard S. Newlin of Inspiration, Ariz. for her matron of honor. Mr. Harris, who is a son of Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Harris of Lakeland, Fla., has asked his brother to serve as best man.

Mr. Saunders, who left Dixon yesterday for Washington, D. C., to visit his brother, Henry J. Saunders, will join Mrs. Saunders and Mrs. Beede in the east in time for his niece's wedding. And four days later, on Jan. 28, the bride-elect's parents and Mr. and Mrs. Saunders will sail on the S. S. Santa Lucia for South America, where Mr. Saunders is also with the Anaconda company.

DR. LINTZ, WHO WEDS IN SOUTH, IS KNOWN HERE

Members of the First Baptist church of Lake Charles, La., announce the marriage of Mrs. Esther Olson to their pastor, Dr. Harry McCormick Lintz, Thursday evening, Jan. 5. Dr. Lintz, a well known national evangelist, assisted with union evangelistic services in Dixon on two occasions. He was last heard at the Methodist church here in the fall of 1931, during the pastorate of the Rev. A. T. Stevenson.

The nuptials were solemnized in a simple candlelight ceremony at the Lake Charles Baptist church, with the Rev. Fred T. Moffatt of Frankfort, Ky., formerly of Lake Charles and former colleague of the bridegroom in Moody Bible institute of Chicago, officiating.

For several years, Mrs. Lintz was superintendent of a Minneapolis medical hospital. Dr. Lintz for nine years carried evangelism for the Moody Bible institute into 46 states and 13 foreign countries. During his pastorate at Lake Charles, the church has added 200 new members, retired a large church indebtedness, and more than doubled the attendance.

SOUTH DIXON UNIT MEETS; 91 ATTEND

The Smith sisters entertained with vocal duets and guitar music, and Allen Bolton gave a military tap dance. A brief business meeting conducted by the chairman, J. W. Cortright, was followed by moving pictures shown by La Vonne Albright, and a comprehensive discussion on "Soil Conservation" by J. M. Keay of Amboy. Lunch was served at the close of the evening.

From the moment when Alexander Roth's tired thumb earns him a ride, until he finds himself the unwilling companion of a female spitfire, the recorded events are charged with electricity and an undercurrent of foreboding.

Sword in the Stone—T. H. White

A medieval romance written with charm, polish, and sophistication. The central character is the Wart, a small boy struggling in an adult world and doing remarkably well for himself. Wart's tutor, Merlyn, supports him in his schemes. Robin Hood, Little John, and Maid Marian also play important roles along with a host of villains, huntsmen, and animals. It is a sort of wholly individual book of which one can hardly give an idea by any briefer process than reading the whole of it aloud.

An earnest and gifted young doctor's struggles with his head surgeon. Differentiated from the usual run of medical novels by humor; the antagonism between Dr. Beaven and his chief is often amusing, and it all works out for the best in the end. A good novel by the author of "Magnificent Obsession."

American Labor—Herbert Harris

Instead of invective for or against Lewis or Green, for or against the National Labor Relations Board and the Wagner Act, Mr. Harris offers an authentic study of how far labor has come, where it is likely to go, and why. He was an uncle of King Christian of Denmark and the youngest brother of the late Queen Alexandra of Great Britain, the wife of King Edward VII.

He received the nickname "Uncle of Kings" before the World War, when his nephews were on the thrones of five countries—Great Britain, Norway, Denmark, Greece and Russia.

SOME ONE IS CRAWLING OUT ON A LIMB

Premier Chamberlain of Britain has informed Italy that England stands back of France in the latter's refusal to cede any protectorates or colonies to fascist Italy.

It may be that Mr. Chamberlain is merely sounding off his bugle, and that his warnings mean no more than when the British said they would not tolerate the seizure of Ethiopia, or Austria, or parts of Czechoslovakia.

But there is a hint that the British have been cheered inordinately by the Roosevelt message to congress on the state of the union.

Some one, apparently, is crawling out on a limb which is going to be cut off neatly, leaving him suspended in the air.

If Mr. Roosevelt imagines the British and French are going to support him in his determination to do whatever he indicated in his speech, he is not yet fully acquainted with the facts of life. Of course we don't know as yet what he meant by that speech, and will not know until the poetry is translated into what Mr. Roosevelt so frequently refers to as "plain English." Whatever he meant, however, is what they are not going to do. We once went over to Europe and made the world safe for democracy—and look at the silly thing now!

Or it may be that the British and French, being frightened into fits by the spectacular fireworks of the dictators, imagine that Mr. Roosevelt is going to support them in whatever they are trying to do—if they themselves know what they are driving at. If so, they are due for disillusionment. Didn't they once accept a league of nations to make the world safe for peace, and didn't the United States repudiate the Treaty of Versailles and hatch out a peace of its own?

Without any sympathy toward dictatorial crudeness, we suspect that the best policy for the European democracies would be either to cede territory to the dictators—or prepare to fight. The sound and fury emanating from this side of the waters is subject to the whims of a people now engaged in paying out of their own pockets 12 billions of dollars that ought to be coming from Europe.

AN UNGRACIOUS EXECUTIVE

Perhaps there are no men in the United States who could have been nominated to the positions of justice of the supreme court, secretary of commerce and attorney general without fear of their being attacked from some quarter.

If the president had nominated notable reactionaries, these would have been assailed by liberals and radicals. If he had nominated some who could be described as precisely in the middle of the road, they might have been subject to attack by both conservatives and left-wingers. So he nominated three men who are not likely to be obnoxious to the liberals nor to the radicals. It shows the trend of Mr. Roosevelt's mind.

If Mr. Roosevelt had designated a thorough conservative for any one of these positions, no doubt the candidate for confirmation would have been under fire of Senator Norris and his ilk without delay, but who would expect the senate to reject them—especially if it were known that the chief executive really meant the nomination? No conservative would be embarrassed if asked whether he favored preservation of the constitution, enforcement of the laws, independence of the courts and a cessation of government harassment of legitimate business.

However, the president nominated for the attorney generalship a man whose record as to law enforcement is questioned seriously; he selected for the post of secretary of commerce a man accused of saying "We will tax and tax, spend and spend, elect and elect." For associate justice of the supreme court he chose a man who was not even born in the United States, and who already has been suspected of sympathy with radicals.

If they are confirmed in office they will be compelled to spend the rest of their spare time proving the suspicions aroused are without foundation.

Associate Justice Black, if a case involving the Ku Klux Klan or his "Black inquisition" comes before the court, would face serious embarrassment and be unable to participate in a decision.

The president makes ungracious selections.

PERSECUTION FANS THE FLAME

Celebration recently of the 250th anniversary of John Bunyan's allegory, Pilgrim's Progress, may have given rise to some thoughts in the minds of pastors, church officials and members.

Creation of the immortal work by Bunyan was the result of religious persecution in England. Bunyan, who insisted upon preaching the gospel as he interpreted it, wrote Pilgrim's Progress while in Bedford county jail in England. It is significant that Bunyan's two best-known books were written in prison. Pilgrim's Progress is more widely read than any book save the Bible itself.

It also should be significant that Martin Luther did his most telling work while a victim of persecution.

Left to their own devices, and without opposition to their theories, Bunyan and Luther might have been towering figures; but some will doubt this. It seems that when the churches gain full liberty and have access to reasonable wealth; when all opposition to Christianity has evaporated and a Christian no longer feels the threat of jail for the sake of his faith, then the aggressiveness of the church declines.

What is true of men in the church is true of men in general. Give any enterprise a dash of difficulty and the men in it will buckle down to heavy work. Remove the obstacles and they will sit down. Christianity in the catacombs grew strong enough to seize control of a government; men gladly became martyrs and laid down their lives for the cause—as long as it was fraught with peril. Today, when it is quite the thing to be a Christian, when the law says the church is free to practice Christianity as it sees fit, when meeting places are hedged about with legal safeguards, it is hard to get members to pay the church debt.

We would be the last to suggest a dash of persecution as a means of duplicating the Pilgrim's Progress. Our churches retain all the old vitality, and if an emergency arises they will not only overcome the peril, but advance more than enough to make up for the seeming spell of quietness.

NEW YEAR'S LOVE

The Characters.

Noel Marchand, a beautiful young actress.
Allan Collings, the man she loves.
David Norris, the man she was supposed to marry.

Yesterday, after running away to a small town, Noel meets the head of a Little Theater.

Chapter 27

Aid Curiosity
Bart Ehlers brought a new interest into Noel's strange summer. "This is charming—it must be fun working here," she told him when they visited the remodeled barn on Sunday.

Ehlers showing her about, was like a little boy with a whole flock of new toys. He had her examine the lighting effects, explained the new drops that were coming up from New York.

Together they read some of the manuscripts Ehlers had brought with him. Under the shady tree for the few afternoons he was there, and in the staid old Victorian parlor on nights after their early supper.

Noel missed him when he moved up to his company joined him. She was nervous and restless. A dozen times she was on the verge of going back to New York—asking Swanstrom's advice. She'd have to do something soon. There was the fall season ahead—she couldn't afford to be idle. Board at Mrs. Winters' was ridiculously cheap; she had no other expenses except the money she spent to be driven over to the Weston Playhouse.

"Why don't you come no over here?" Ehlers asked her the second time she went over, and watched a rehearsal. "You're bored now, I can tell. And that's the worst thing in the world for an actress."

"You mean you'd give me a part in your plays?" Ehlers was exuberant. "If only you would!" He was planning her vehicle already. "I've got a play that needs someone like you." He was off on a wild rush of enthusiasm, trying to persuade her. "We can't pay your salary, Noel—she was Noel to him now—but as long as you're up here."

"I'll do it," Noel decided impulsively. Most of Ehlers' group were very young—and burning with a desire to be theatrical fame. Noel felt old sometimes talking to these "children," as she called them. The character players were older troups who had lost their illusions—success had misled them.

Noel was "Not Now" of New York and its associations, today. The papers had come up and on the sailing list of the Elks Club, Noel saw David's name. He was going on the cruise!

To everyone but Ehlers Noel was Miss Martin, and strangely enough, no one realized she was Noel Marchand. "Such is a little success on Broadway," she exclaimed to Ehlers, a little disappointedly.

"They'd be amazed to think of your leaving New York hit for this sort of thing," Ehlers' eyes took on an impish gleam. "I'd like to tell them."

"No—not now," Noel protested. She was having fun. The troupe, when not rehearsing, painted scenery, fixed up the sets, or sat around and talked of the big things to come. Noel saw David's name. He was going on the cruise!

"You're a splendid actress, Miss Martin. You belong in New York," Mrs. Bannister offered. Her speech was a combination of friendliness and condescension. "I've many friends in the theater," she said with an intimate touch. "We'll have to see what we can do for you."

Noel smiled secretly. To Mrs. Bannister she replied politely. "That's very kind of you."

Noel knew she hadn't forgotten her. At the last performance of the weekly engagement, there was the usual sell-out Saturday night business. Mrs. Bannister was back Noel saw her well down front when she'd been on the stage a few minutes. She gasped in dismay, almost forgot her cue as she saw who was with her—Allan Collings, the second-string critic on the New York Star. The man was smiling cynically—she couldn't keep her eyes away from him. While she was playing in "Susan is Waiting," he had come back stage for an interview. She knew she'd have to see him again tonight!

"What's the idea?" he asked when Mrs. Bannister brought her back to Noel's tiny improvised dressing room, after the performance was over. He turned to Ehlers who was watching Noel's expression and said, "I'm just saying that Noel's triumph, too."

"What's Noel Marchand doing here with the name of Martin?" His eyes were bright with avid curiosity, as though sensing a mystery. He was probing.

"I was here on vacation," Noel's face was scarlet. She was angry, too, at Green's "tell me the secret" manner. Mr. Ehlers suggested I play this part. I'm interested now. That's all, Mr. Green—there's really no mystery."

"How charming I should have known," Mrs. Bannister went on, smiling. Noel was politely responsive. Finally she said:

"Will you excuse me now—I'd like to get out of this costume."

Green left with his hostess. At the door he turned his head. His enigmatic smile suggested: "I've caught you this time, Noel Marchand."

Wonderfully Peaceful
"Well, it's out now," Noel sank wearily into her chair. Ehlers told her sympathetically:

"You expected something like this. I might as well go back to New York—it's been wonderfully peaceful here, working with you."

Noel gave him an appreciative smile. "I'm glad to get it over," she said. "I know he's furious—but perhaps he'll forgive me." Noel thought she'd made a mess of things. How could she believe that, after running and hiding, she could solve her own problems?

"We'll be darn sorry to see you go," Ehlers said sincerely regretful.

"The talk about her leaving when they lunched together next day. "Some day this week, I'll go into town," Noel told Ehlers.

On Monday, because there was nothing else to do, Noel strolled over to the theater. She sat in the rear and watched Ehlers whipping the embryonic artists into a pasty rehearsal. During the cast saw her.

Betty Garland, the ingenue in this week's production, ran down the aisle and exclaimed with awe in her voice. "Miss Marchand, we didn't know we should have. I'm thrilled to have worked with you."

Ehlers, smiling up to them, interrupted. "Never mind, Betty. Brush on those lines. I want to talk to Noel."

He took Noel through the wide exit, his arm holding her tightly. "Too bad about that story. Silly stuff to write."

"What story?" Noel had a premonition it was Greene, of course.

"Haven't you seen it?" Ehlers was frankly surprised. He fumbled nervously. "In this morning's Star. The gang's been eating it up."

Ehlers got her a copy, left her alone. There it was on the first page, the second edition—the two-column head, under a picture of Noel. With fear that mounted to anger as she read it, Noel went through the whole thing. Part was the truth, the rest was supposition, and reporting the rumors on Broadway.

The gist of the article was that Noel had left Susan is Waiting the same night she eloped the wealthy man she was to marry—practically on the eve of the wedding. Had disappeared, leaving no trace. And had been discovered under another name playing in a small summer stock company.

Every detail was there—her present whereabouts, her record in the theater. Tears of fury filled Noel's eyes. She hurried back to the inn.

"New York's been calling you," the lanky proprietor of the place informed her. "Several times." He was obviously impressed.

"Thank you," was all Noel replied. "Shall I get them for you?" The man, curious as to why her, was reaching for the phone. Noel declined and started for her room.

"I'm going back to Mrs. Winters," she told Ehlers, after she'd hurriedly packed her bags. "I don't want to talk to anyone now. Why can't they let me alone?"

It was to the comparative quiet of Mrs. Winters' house that Ehlers brought a thick-set young man two mornings later. This was Mike Howe of Criterion Productions," he told Noel. "He wants to arrange a screen test for you."

Noel turned angrily on the visitor. "I've played three seasons on Broadway, and Hollywood wasn't interested in my work. Now because a lot is printed about me, you think maybe I'll do."

"I wouldn't say that," Miss Marchand," Howe replied placatingly. "A test doesn't mean a contract—even in Hollywood. But it's a big business for you. You shouldn't mind as long as you're getting publicity." (Copyright, 1938, Angela Lorden.)

Some Items Behind the News in National Capital Today

BY BRUCE CATTON

NEA Service Staff Correspondent

Washington, Jan. 14.—Donald Wakefield Smith feels very much like a man who went out for a brisk walk and discovered of a sudden that he had strolled onto the business end of a rifle range just as a platoon of sharpshooters opened fire.

When President Roosevelt sent in Smith's reappointment to a five-year term on the National Labor Relations Board, last August, there were a few mild mutters. Then there were more, less mild. The chorus swelled, until by the time Congress convened, the question of his confirmation had become one of the capital's most hotly-contested issues.

His opponents claim they can defeat confirmation if the matter ever reaches the Senate floor. It is widely rumored that the pressure will cause the President to withdraw the appointment and submit another name. And through it all Mr. Smith sits in his office and tries not to be too good a target for sharpshooters.

His Golf Suffers

This human storm center is an affable, black-haired, rather slight chap with a ready smile. He sits back of a thoroughly littered desk in a big, airy office, smokes cigarettes almost as fast as I do, and allows that the chief trouble with his job is that it cuts into his golf game.

Mr. Smith came up from the Pennsylvania coal fields, via a lengthy detour. Born in Homestead, scene of the most famous labor riots in American history, he worked in the steel mills, earned his way through school, was graduated from the University of Pittsburgh and Georgetown University Law School, and began law practice about 14 years ago.

He thinks his practice was good preparation for his present job. Shuttling back and forth from New York to Philadelphia to Washington, he specialized in labor cases and immigration-labor contract cases, practicing much before federal courts. Some times he represented labor and sometimes he represented employers, he says.

In Washington he and his wife live in an apartment. He goes out rarely, gets almost no time for exercise—as witness the state of his golf game—and puts in about 14 hours a day on the job. Most nights he takes a brief case full of papers home with him. He averages about three Sundays out of four at his office.

He Does Get Out of Office

The routine of the NLRB job is enough to keep any man jumping. Two days out of each week are set aside for the hearing of oral arguments. (Some weeks there are more, but never less.) Then there is a lot of administrative work to do, decisions to be made, drafts to be written, and a great deal of traveling to be done.

Mr. Smith does get around the country. When he visits a city he makes it a point to meet both C. I. O. and A. F. L. leaders and chat with them; he also talks with as many industrialists as he can and asks them to air any grievances they have or make suggestions.

He feels that if it wasn't for the present factional fight between the two big labor organizations, both capital and labor would by this time have agreed that the Wagner Act was a fine thing.

He especially likes to recall that many employers have told him the act helps to stabilize labor conditions—have told him that they opposed the act only because they didn't understand its spirit.

Mr. Smith looks fit in spite of the grind, and he is remarkably good-natured until you ask him, as I incautiously did, whether he favors the C. I. O. over A. F. L. "That," he says sharply, "is all the bunk."

Visiting Mr. Smith is a pleasant chore. You see, in his office sits Miss Cecilia Casey, who is my number one nominee for membership in the She-Ought-to-be-in-Hollywood Club.

TROOP I

Mrs. Black started the first meeting of the New Year, with a few "good old Girl Scout songs," to keep the meeting rolling. She then played an interesting game. After this everyone called down and the business meeting was called to order. The girls decided that instead of having a dance they would wait until it was colder and have a skating party, however, no definite plans were made.

Mrs. Black also urged all the girls to bring in the remaining work, after having devoted most of the month of December to handicraft. We have two groups, one interested in Homemaking, they spent most of their time working on satisfactory menus for a planned meal. The folk dancing group worked on the fox trot, waltz, two step. They review the fox trot, proper standing, walking and sitting positions.

Barbara Berg moved into Chicago so a private invitation was held for her on Monday afternoon.

We had our Christmas party at Mrs. Dunkelberger's our troop sponsor. We had a grab bag, games, and ended with refreshments.

TROOP II

Regular meeting of our troop was held the majority of the time being given over to playing games required for the sports and games badge.

Several of the members of our troop are attending sewing classes at the Singer Sewing Machine Co. Marilyn Thomas, Scribe.

TROOP V

Our troop met for the first time in 1939, this week. Our interest groups have again resumed their work, after having devoted most of the month of December to handicraft. We have two groups, one interested in Homemaking, they spent most of their time working on satisfactory menus for a planned meal. The folk dancing group worked on the fox trot, waltz, two step. They review the fox trot, proper standing, walking and sitting positions.

We had our Christmas party at Mrs. Dunkelberger's our troop sponsor. We had a grab bag, games, and ended with refreshments.

Marilyn Smith, Scribe.

TROOP VI

The meeting opened with a discussion on a party to be held on Jan. 18. Joanne Gannon and Mary Rita Gardner were appointed as a committee to make arrangements for the place to have the party.

A menu for the party was planned, after patrol corners, we were dismissed.

TROOP X

Troop X will have a party Jan. 14th at the Elks club. Committees were appointed to do certain work. The general committee is as follows: Lois Blumling, chairman, Doris Rhodes, Georgia Jewell, Mavis Westover, Jean Meeks, Asst. Scout Leader Etola Miller.

Games committee: Virginia Workman, Trudy Prewitt, Joan Smith, and Mrs. Louis Snow, program adviser.

Jean Meeks and Jean Stevens will make programs. The sponsors of the party are: Our leaders: Miss James Miley, Miss Leone Ott, Miss Etola Miller, Mrs. A. Wimpelberg, Miss Marie Kelly, Dr. James Miley, and John Mills.

Council of honor will be held on Wednesday, Jan. 18 at the K. C. Home.

Answer to Question No. 1

1. There is no evidence that they do. Their rivalries are different in many ways. Men, more often than women, express their passion for rivalry by trying to outdo their fellows—usually some particular fellow—in outward achievement—make more money, climb a higher mountain, win more votes and the like. Women, more often than men, go in for social rivalry, to outdo the other woman in a personal way, outdress her or get her man, or make herself more beautiful and attractive. The passion is very strong in both sexes and has been a great force in making civilization.

Answer to Question No. 2

2. Introverts, because they take life more seriously. To the introvert life itself is much more of a problem than to the extravert. The extravert takes things as they come, does not reason very much about his own troubles or the reasons for them, or try to

Answer to Question No. 3

3. Yes, unless by "material success" is meant merely piling up money regardless of other people's welfare. But there are many kinds of material success that carry great spiritual values. If a man, who is building a great enterprise does not devote to it all his efforts, and neglects it to write poetry or paint pictures or compose music, his employees and thousands of others with suffer. Modern men are finding more and more—despite much popular opinion to the contrary—that the best way to achieve material success is to make others materially successful also.

Swanson, Stillman Valley forward, led the charge of the victors with 14 points from six field goals and two free throws. Woodruff, Polo center, scored two buckets and eight free throws for 12 points. The Rochelle lightweights won the preliminary game, 18 to 14.

At Franklin Grove last night Coach John Mitchell's heavyweight squad lost to Lee Center, 37 to 26, but the lightweight Grovers came through to defeat the visitors, 13 to 11.

BURMAN IS GIVEN UNPOPULAR WIN OVER TOM FARR

Decision Over Welshman Puts the Crowd Into An Uproar

By GAYLE TALBOT

New York, Jan. 14.—(AP)—So help us, the heavyweight prize-fighters of this country fast are becoming divided into two distinct groups—those who have whipped Tommy Farr and those who haven't had the opportunity of fighting the hard-luck Welshman.

Latest to join the former lodge, and without much doubt the most surprised member of the circle, is Red Burman of Baltimore, who won a highly disputed decision over Tommy, in 10 rounds last night at the Garden. The crowd of 9,756 didn't think the red-head had any business getting the duke, and neither did a majority of the critics at ringside.

Farr's Fifth Defeat It was the fifth time Farr had seen an opponent's mitt raised since he came to these shores summer before last, and the Welshman was so indignant he was practically speechless. Not so his manager, Joe Gould, who swore he would go before the State Athletic commission and have the decision reversed.

It was a cruel blow to Farr, because, believe it or not, he had every prospect of fighting Joe Louis for the championship again next June if he had disposed of Burman. His next opponent was to have been Tony Galento, and winning that, he would have gone against the champion.

Close Fight It was a hard fight and a fairly close one. The Associated Press balance sheet gave Farr five rounds, Burman four and one even. That was about the consensus of the ringside tabulators.

Both fighters were battered and spent at the finish. Neither hit the canvas, though several times one or the other appeared on the verge of going down.

The uproar was so loud after the main event the announcer gave up trying to introduce Roscoe Toles of Detroit and Gus Dorazio of Philadelphia, heavyweights who engaged in the concluding 10-rounder. It went only six and a fraction heats, the lanky Detroit Negro giving Dorazio such a fearful beating that the referee stopped it.

Other Bout Charles (Buddy) Knox of Dayton, Ohio, won a close decision over Chuck Crowell of Los Angeles in still another heavyweight 10, and Pat Comiskey, the much-heralded young heavyweight from Paterson, N. J., kept up his phenomenal string of knockouts by stopping Marty Lieberman of Newark in the third. Comiskey hit Lieberman only three times with his right, and each time Lieberman splattered all over the ring.

Mungo Speaks Piece About Salary Offers

Orlando, Fla., Jan. 14.—(AP)—

Van Ling Mungo, her apparent baseball's holdout crown, spoke his piece today about the Brooklyn Dodgers' "ridiculous" salary offers—but the pitcher had a word of praise for Manager Leo Durocher. "They didn't raise me $11,000 a clip, and they aren't gonna cut me that much in one year," said the big right-hander whose fireball cooled off so much last season he won only four games.

"That much of a cut is ridiculous and someone is guessing wrong if they expect me to sign a $5,000 contract."

"But let me tell you one thing, whether I'm with the club or not when the season opens, I'm pulling all the way for Leo Durocher. He'll make a great manager because he never was a guy to pass the buck."

"If Lippy's wrong he'll admit it where a lot of other guys will call you a dirty so-and-so for something that's their fault."

The raccoon is one of the cleanest of animals, washing and re-washing its food in stream or lake water before it eats.

Mendota Cagers Take Lead In Conference Last Night By Trimming Dixon, 25-20

Purple Lightweights Win in First Game of Evening on 24-17 Count.

CONFERENCE STANDINGS
Team—	Won	Lost	Pct.
Mendota	3	0	1.000
Dixon	2	1	.667
Belvidere	1	1	.500
Sterling	1	2	.333
DeKalb	0	3	.000

Dixon high school's basketball team, hoping to find the pathway that leads to conference honors, hit a dead-end last night when the Sharpshooters invaded Mendota and lost their way in the maze of a 25 to 20 defeat. And the Heinzenmen took over the conference lead with three victories!

The locals, known for their high scoring, hit a slump last night when the aces of the aggregation failed to swish 'em. Gene McNamera went scoreless through the first half and Louie Bevilacqua's totals for the game were swept with goose-eggs. To Ardell Bugg went the scoring honors for the Purple with a total of nine points from four field goals and one free throw.

On the small Lincoln grade school floor, rimmed with an overflow of spectators, the local basketballers simply failed to get going and the scoring percentage fell to 18. Both teams were guilty of some very bad passing except in the closing two minutes when—with a two-point lead—Mendota's game of "keep-away" completely baffled the visitors.

Three Out on Fouls Three Dixon players left the game on fouls and a check up shows that Mendota made seven out of 16 free throw attempts for a percentage of 43 while Dixon netted but four out of 11 for 35 per cent.

Reeder, slippery forward of the Mendota lineup, wriggled through the Dixon defense to ring up 13 points on five field goals and three free throws. The veteran lineup of the Heinzenmen remained unchanged throughout the entire heavyweight encounter and while their offense wasn't as fast breaking as had been anticipated, it was a technique which Dixon, on an "off-night" could not cope with successfully. The locals did not have the class of their previous encounters and the Mendota squad was not as formidable as it must have been on the nights of the Sterling and DeKalb victories, not to mention the high score over Earlville last week.

Scoring efforts lagged behind for both teams throughout most of the first half. At the end of the first quarter Dixon trailed on a one-point margin, 5 to 4, and the same was true for the score at the half, 12 to 11.

First Chance to Score

Mendota was given the first chance to score after two minutes of the initial period had been played when Reeder was fouled by Bush. The attempted shot was muffed and Dixon scored first when Moore sank two free throws on Shapiro's foul. Bugg went into the Dixon lineup for Bush at center just before Reeder dropped his first field goal under the basket to tie the score. Dixon stepped up two points on Bugg's field goal and Miller of Mendota knotted the proceedings again after Shapiro missed a free throw on Moore's first foul. Dixon called time out and resuming play, Hesserberger scored a charity shot on Bevilacqua's first foul near the end of the first stanza.

Long Shot Starting the action of the second period Bugg missed three free throws, one on a foul by Whitmore and two on Shapiro's second foul. Mendota took further claim on the lead when Hesserberger scored a beautiful set shot at long range and Bugg followed with a field goal from within the confines of the free throw circle.

Bevilacqua's second foul gave Reeder two shots. The first he missed, but the second was good and Dixon called time.

Resuming play, Dixon tied up the score on Page's field goal and the see-saw continued with Reeder scoring one of the two free throw Bugg scored on a foul by Reeder. Dixon took the lead for the first time since the initial free throws on Bugg's shot near the basket and Mendota called time. Hesserberger scored on a long range shot and Reeder was successful at the Scotch stripe when he was fouled by Moore. The third foul by Moore gave Reeder another chance which he missed as the half ended.

Dixon's Scoring Spurt The Dixon cagers returned to the third period with a new power which gave momentary promise of their former style. McNamera scored three field goals in this stanza and Bugg added one. McNamera was the first to score and put the Purple back in the lead, but Miller's long and beautiful set

Ruppert's Death Raises Question Of Yankees' Fate

New York, Jan. 14.—(AP)—

The sports world wondered today what effect the death of Col. Jacob Ruppert would have on the World Champion New York Yankees—the baseball club he helped buy for $450,000 in 1915 and built into a $15,000,000 enterprise.

In most quarters it was assumed that the energetic little bachelor who died yesterday at the age of 71 had made ample provision for the future of the baseball empire that brought him more satisfaction than the millions he made in beer and real estate.

The best bet seemed to be that a triumvirate would rule baseball's most valuable property—a triumvirate of Ed Barrow, 70, veteran club secretary; George Weiss, head of the Yankees' "farm" system, and George Ruppert, the colonel's brother.

Officials estimated that, if Col. Ruppert's net estate totals $70,000,000—associates said he was worth between $70,000,000 and $100,000,000—the federal and state governments would take all but about $12,000,000 in taxes. Whether this would have any effect on the future of the baseball properties was not determined.

Funeral services for the colonel will be held Monday morning in St. Ignatius Loyola church with a solemn requiem mass.

Burial services afterward in the Ruppert family mausoleum in Kenosha cemetery in Westchester county will be private.

Among the honorary pallbearers will be Albert Brennan, the colonel's executive secretary; Joe McCarthy, manager of the Yankees; Mayor LaGuardia, former Governor Alfred E. Smith, Senator Robert T. Wagner, and several baseball and business friends.

WOMAN'S CLUB. A very interesting meeting of the Franklin Grove Woman's club was held Monday afternoon, January 9 in the Kersten gym, when the committee on International Relations entertained the members of the club.

The meeting was called to order by the new president, Mrs. Lorraine Schmucker. The club song was led by Mrs. Schmucker with Blocher at the piano. The pledge to the flag was given, followed by the collect read by Mrs. Alva Crawford. Mrs. Kathryn Herbst gave the minutes of the last meeting. Mrs. Schmucker named the Fine Arts committee to have charge of serving the Father and Sons banquet, January 31.

Mrs. Schmucker then turned the meeting over to the chairman of the afternoon, Mrs. Pansy Biesecker who introduced Mrs. A. M. Warfel of Lanark. Mrs. Warfel spoke on "International Relations." She centered her topic on the sharing of Europe. The subject was very interesting as we are all concerned in the conditions in Europe.

Kathryn Herbst presented Mrs. Paul Dierks with a gift from the club members as a token of appreciation for her enthusiasm while president the past two and one-half years. Mrs. Duncan responded with a few words of thanks.

Mrs. Biesecker introduced the next numbers on the program, a solo by Georgia Lahman, who sang "Sweet Memories of Dixie." Then the Organ played "Twilight" her mother accompanied her at the piano. This was followed by the violin trio consisting of Marie Black, Evelyn Kuhn, Roberta Kint with Josephine Kelley.

The meeting closed with delicious refreshments served by Mesdames Pansy Biesecker, Marjorie Howard, Josephine Kelley, and song by the club members, Mrs. Mary Grace Degner and Vena Weigle.

Charge Five Million Nickels Stolen From N. Y. Subway in Year

New York, Jan. 14—(AP)—The disappearance of 5,000,000 nickels—that's $250,000 in round figures—was under discussion today by the City Transportation Board, which charges they were stolen from the city subway last year.

The "tap," the board said, had been accomplished by collectors and accomplices turning back the turnstile meters every day—but not enough to arouse suspicion—and pocketing the difference.

The board said some individuals took $70 a day. Seventeen employees have been suspended pending an inquiry.

In 1938 women in Kansas WPA sewing projects produced approximately 4,000,000 garments and household articles for distribution to needy families.

CATTLE THIEVES.

A hearing was held before A. T. Guest, justice of the peace, for Grant and Homer Coulthard, 20 and 22 respectively, who were picked up in Rochelle at 3 A. M. Friday morning by Police Officers Lazier and Carr. The two youths were bound over to the grand jury under $2500 bonds. Emerald Busse, farmer of Lynville township who had had two calves stolen, filed the complaint with Sheriff White of Ogle county signing the complaint. Sheriffs from Lee, Ogle, Winnebago, LaSalle, Boone, Stephenson, Whiteside, McHenry and DeKalb counties were present at the investigation which was held in Rochelle.

The youths had been operating in all northern Illinois and admitted stealing cattle in most of these counties. They trucked their loot to the Omaha Packing Co., 22nd Place, South Halsted street, Chicago, and sold it. At first they said they were from St. Charles, Ill., but later admitted they were from Pittsfield, Wis. R. R. 1.

When the youths were arrested they were driving a black Chevrolet panel truck without license plates.

The youths were placed in the Ogle county jail to await trial.
